Urgent Issues: Active patients at our office with an urgent issue may contact any of the therapists within our office. Please attempt to reach your therapist first.

Emergency Access: In case of emergency needs, contact your primary physician, call 911, or, go to the emergency room. We do not provide emergency services, nor, are we available after office hours.

Fees: Clients are charged the full rate for sessions not cancelled 24 hours in advance. Court appearances, requested letter writing, and telephone counseling over 15 minutes in length are subject to additional charges.

Longer Intensive sessions: "Intensives" (typically 2 hours) can be scheduled if deemed appropriate. Additional fees will apply.

Secure Video Conferencing and Phone sessions: These are both available at the therapist's discretion. Typically, these are scheduled only after face-to-face meetings have occurred.

Testifying, Custody Disagreements, & Affidavits: At times, patients seek counseling for help in these matters. We do not testify, write affidavits, or, work with custody matters if this is the primary goal for seeking therapy.

Counseling as change agent: Many times patients feel "worse" before feeling "better". The process of therapy often touches areas that can be painful or difficult to revisit or examine. Know this can be a difficult process. Our sincere hope and belief is that the positive results far outweigh the tough sessions.

Jill Smith & Associates
Privacy & Confidentiality

Privacy & Confidentiality:

- Jill Smith & Associates is ethically and professionally held accountable to comply with the laws of the State of South Carolina, HIPAA, and the social work ethics formally established.
- As a client, you have the right to see your counseling file. (Psychotherapy notes are afforded special privacy protection under the HIPAA act and are excluded from this right)
- You have the right to restrict the use and disclosure of your protected health information. If you choose to release any protected health information, you will be required to sign a "HIPAA" Release of Information form detailing exactly to whom and what information to be disclosed.
- Professional ethics and SC state law require that counseling sessions are confidential.

However, confidentiality is waived when:

- A judge's court order requires it.
- A patient engages in or reports awareness of abuse/neglect of a child or a vulnerable adult, or, if a patient has recently abused a child or a child is in danger of abuse or neglect.
- If a minor patient reveals any incidence of physical, sexual, or verbal abuse, a report will be made to DSS.
- A patient engages in or reports awareness of domestic violence.
- A patient discloses plans to harm another person. In this case, the counselor is required to warn the intended victim and report this information to legal authorities.
- A patient discloses a plan for suicide or self-harm.
- A lawsuit is brought against the counselor.
- A patient applies for workers compensation.

Additionally, confidentiality is limited when:

- We text, call, or email patients to set/confirm appointments or follow up on key issues. If the patient is not ok with these forms communication being used, please notify us in writing before the therapeutic relationship begins.
